André Thonard is a Transforming & Executive Coach, Team Inspirator and a trainer specialized in both individual and collective guiding of managers.

After a Masters degree in economic sciences and econometrics he attended an MBA General Management Program at INSEAD. He followed his university education by certifying trainings: individual and collective coaching, transaction analysis, MBTI, Director Effectiveness and Board Effectiveness (at Guberna -Brussels independent Director's school). He's a coach Supervisor certified by the Coaching Supervision Academy (London).

He spent the first part of his career as a Director in the financial group AXA where he was successively actuary, Chief Operating Officer, Director of distribution, secretary general and director of training. Nowadays he guides companies and individuals in different sectors such as AXA Luxembourg, Sibelga, Walloon Parliament, Luxair, Total, MSD, CRM group, Skechers, Fabrique Nationale, Securitas... He 's a Coach/ Administrator of several managers of small & medium businesses.

It's a passion of his to support people making considerable progress as a professional. What characterizes André is his urge to get more and more experienced and to overcome challenges. In this context he actively participates in the project of development of collective intelligence in 'Vision 2012'-companies and shares the network and close associates of Robert Dilts.

As a coach André helps clients determine their objectives and guides them towards the realization of their projects. André has a sense of humor and is also a humanist who likes people. As a coach he is encouraging, confronting and motivating.
